

Grow Green Africa

Building Climate Change Resilience through Smart Green Technologies

Co-funded by the European Union

The Gr2A is part of the Intra-Africa Academic Mobility Scheme Initiative funded by the European Union. The project aims to enhance competencies in green computing technologies for students and trainees in Africa. Specifically, it seeks to equip 10 PhD students, 35 Master of Science students, and 8 trainees with computing skills. Also, 15 staff members from five participating African institutions: National University of Science and Technology (NUST) in Zimbabwe, Namibia University of Science and Technology (NUST) in Namibia, Copperbelt University (CBU) in Zambia, Rhodes University (RU) in South Africa, and University of Eswatini (UNESWA) in Eswatini will benefit from the mobility programme. The project's technical lead is provided by the University of Turku (UTU), a European Union partner from Finland.

From left to right: a man in a blue checkered shirt holds a sign with a green checkmark; a woman in a striped shirt holds a sign with a green checkmark; a woman in a white shirt holds a sign with a red X; and a man in a brown shirt holds a sign with a green checkmark.

Mobility Eligibility

Degree-Seeking Mobility

Students earn degrees in their fields of study

To be considered for a degree-seeking scholarship in the Gr2A Project, the following conditions apply:

Masters' Degree Programmes (24 months max)

Normally one should have passed a relevant undergraduate degree as stipulated by one's institution of choice. This information should be available from the institutions' website.

PhD Degree programmes (36 months max)

A relevant Master's degree is a prerequisite as stipulated by one's institution of choice

To be offered a scholarship, one should produce an offer letter from one's institution of choice.

Credit-Seeking Mobility

This is offered on a course/research basis to students enrolled in any recognised university in Africa. Students earn credits through this mobility which they can use in their home institution

Trainee Mobility (6 months max)

Students registered either at undergraduate, masters' or PhD level, may spend up to 6 months in industry practicing the theory they learn in class.

Staff Mobility (2 months max)

Permanent staff members in participating institutions may participate in up to 2 months' mobility within the consortium as a means of knowledge exchange.

NB. Mobility is only eligible when conducted outside one's country of residence.
